LWV TOURS JAIL

Mrs. Leo Seal and Mrs. Ernest C. Samuel, representing the League of Women Voters of Bay St. Louis, recently made a tour of investigation of the Hancock County Jail. The following is a brief report of their findings.

The county jail situated in the rear of the Hancock County Court House was built in 1936. It can accommodate, when filled to capacity, 24 male and eight female prisoners. The daily average number of inmates is seven, and on the day of investigation there were five.

The building is structurally sound, and it is fire proof. It was adequately clean, with freshly painted walls and floors. Light and ventilation are poor. There is a window fan for relief in the summer and gas heaters on both floors. Three meals a day are served the prisoners—coffee and bread for breakfast, and stew and beans and bread and coffee. The food is prepared by a trusty, and the kitchen looked clean and smelled clean. There is no means of refrigeration and food is purchased from day to day. One dollar per diem per prisoner is allowed for food. Food is ordered by the current cook through the sheriff's office. This method does not seem efficient, but it is simple.

The cells are on two floors and inmates are separated according to the exigencies of the moment. When there are women prisoners, these are kept on the ground floor, and the male prisoners are removed to the second floor. When there are only male prisoners, they may be kept on either floor. Juveniles under sixteen are not detained in the jail. Juveniles over sixteen are kept apart from adult prisoners.

Each cell has sanitary conveniences consisting of a shower, a lavatory and a toilet. The sheriff said that it is not too difficult to keep the plumbing in proper working condition. There are also wash tubs on the first floor where the prisoners may wash their garments. Soap and towels are provided on request.

There is no bedding, but mattresses are covered with removable mattress covers. Some of these could have done with a washing, and these mattresses, which could be seen, seemed badly battered.

Prisoners are allowed visitors at the discretion of the jailer, and are brought to the sheriff's office, for these visits. They are allowed to make purchases of cigarettes, etc., through the sheriff's office. Personal effects are returned to them upon their release.

Prisoners, convicted for other than misdemeanors are fingerprinted and photographed.

Medical and dental attention is available for prisoners who are in need of them. A local physician is retained on a yearly basis.

Employees of the jail are the Sheriff, the deputy, chiefs, the jailer and the road guard. There are no special qualifications for these positions. The sheriff is elected by the people and the other employees are appointed by the Board of Supervisors. There is no one in attendance at the jail during the night hours and at no time is there a matron. In case of emergency during the night hours, the sheriff says that a trusty has at all times access to a telephone within the jail itself, with which to summon help.

According to the sheriff, there is good cooperation with the other law enforcement agencies.

Prisoners are allowed books, magazines, playing cards and games. However, these are not supplied by the jail, nor is there any place nor designated time for recreation or exercise. They work on the road. Visits from the clergy are optional; there are no religious services. Since prison farms are usually of short duration, no rehabilitation work is attempted.

The sheriff says that there is a real need for a jailer on jail premises 24 hours a day. It is the opinion of the investigation committee that the League of Women Voters of Bay St. Louis should present such a request to the Board of Supervisors.

A full report of the findings of the committee is available on request.

Miss Nannette Arceneaux returned from Birmingham, Ala., where she visited Mr. and Mrs. Claude Dement.

Mrs. Harry Shattuck of Yazoo City, who has been visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Shattuck, fell at their home on Main street Saturday. She suffered a broken shoulder and rib. She was taken to Mercy hospital by Fuhey ambulance.

Lt. and Mrs. E. J. Arceneaux Jr., and daughter, left Saturday for California to make their home.

Waveland Resident Receives MD at LSU

Baton Rouge, June 9.—Isolationists are out of fashion, because isolation is impossible, Miss Mary Donlon, chairman of New York State's Workmen's Compensation Board, told members of the graduating class here Monday night at Louisiana State University's ninety-second annual commencement exercises.

"Whether we like it or not, this is one world in which each of us has our part to play," Miss Donlon declared. "What will your part be? Some of you know already what your profession or vocation or business is to be. But each one of you has quite another life in life besides your vocation, your business or your profession, and one just as important."

"You are citizens of a free country, acknowledged leader among world powers, and that fact alone ranks you among an enviable elite. You are an educated citizen, still further setting you apart as one endowed with rare opportunities for constructive leadership. Whatever you may do in the market place to earn a livelihood, you must also and at the same time do what you can to help maintain here in the United States a political climate in which freedom will grow and flower."

Governor Robert F. Kennon greeted the graduates in behalf of the state at the ceremonies, which were held in the Agricultural Center, and President Troy H. Middleton conferred degrees upon some 900 students. Approximately 320 were awarded graduate and professional degrees.

Miss Donlon, first woman ever to address an L. S. U. graduating class, urged the graduates to keep a constant check on their citizenship obligations. "A coin has two sides," she said. "Opportunity and responsibility of higher education and you are now turning that coin over to the other side. That is so because this is a commencement into responsible adulthood, not the end of anything save only your bright college years."

Following Miss Donlon's address President Middleton presented certificates of recognition to three faculty members who had been selected as Boyd Professor's earlier in the day by the Board of Supervisors. They were: Dr. Eric Voegelin, professor of government, Dr. T. Harry Williams, professor of history, and Dr. Philip West, professor of chemistry.

Among the members of the 1933 graduating class was Donald J. Levasseur of Waveland, Doctor of Medicine degree.

Miss Margo Hand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hand arrived home Tuesday from Bucknell university.

John Joyce, who was injured in an automobile accident May 29, is said to be improving. He is hospitalized in Alexandria.

LATE PLANTING

Soybeans can be planted as late as June 10-15 and with a normal summer, produce as much as 25 bushels per acre. Roanoke or Ogden are the recommended varieties.

Roanoke is good as it is a late maturing variety. Fertilizer, rates and cultivation should be carried out as on earlier planted beans.
Do not plant soybeans for grain broadcast.

Corn planted up too June 10 should have the same fertilizer treatment as earlier planted corn.
Use the same variety that you used for early planting.

Silage. Sorghum for silage is a better risk now than corn for silage. If a drought comes and stops growth of corn, not much silage will be made. Sorghum too, will be stopped by drought. However, when rains come, the sorghum will recover and make additional growth.

WHEAT AND OATS HARVEST Moisture content is important in harvesting wheat and oats for grain. For immediate storage, the moisture content should not be greater than 14 percent at harvesting time. If drying facilities are available, the grain can be harvested with a moisture content of up to 16 percent.

FARM AND HOME WEEK
Mark your calendar, July 14-16 are the dates for annual Farm and Home Week at Mississippi State College. This year, Farm and Home Week promises to be bigger and better than ever. There will be something for all members of the family. Don't miss it.

Farm machinery displays every day, featuring the latest in agricultural mechanization for Southern farms; daily tours of the Experiment Station plots for up-to-the-minute data on new and improved methods of growing crops; and the state's largest electrical display which lasts three days, are open to all.

Special events, such as livestock day, Wednesday July 15, promise to provide plenty to take home information to all who attend.

Farm and Home Week will not be all business. Outstanding speakers including Senator John Stennis, and Romeo Short, director, Foreign Agricultural Service, USDA, Washington, D. C.; daily showing of films, nightly recreation, and the annual Farm and Home Week party Wednesday night including both square dancing and a social dance will add to the fun of the event.

Make your plans now to attend Farm and Home Week, Mississippi State College, July 14-16.

WHEAT AND OATS STORAGE
Wheat and oats in farm storage bins should be fumigated to kill insects. Unless killed, the insects can destroy the grain or make it unfit for human consumption.

Bins should be thoroughly cleaned. Remove all old grain from cracks, sidewalls and doorways.
Spray the walls and floors of the bins with two percent DDT spray made by mixing one pound of DDT wettable powder with three gallons of water, before filling with grain.

Make sure that the bin is tight.
Wooden bins should be lined with

STREAMLINING

Last week the consideration by the House of various streamlining proposals - all laudable in themselves - we made bold to suggest that the Congress might well "get its own house in order while trying to get everything else in order."

The proposals before the House at the time were bills to set up a new Hoover Commission to be called the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government and to establish a Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. The first would have as its objectives the elimination of duplication and overlapping of services and the abolishing of nonessential functions of the Federal Government. The second was designed to enter into question of Federal and State relations, to study the proper role of each, and to attempt to define the responsibilities to be assumed by the Federal Government and those more properly left to the State or local government. The objectives of both were good. - But the Executive Branch is not alone in needing a streamlining of its procedures. The Congress is still using the machinery set up in the ox-cart days to appropriate money. Until this year at least the appropriations committees, because of lack of expert staffs, were at the mercy of the Executive Department. The committees had a limited number of clerks, who were able and conscientious but who could not possibly know the ramifications of a particular request for funds and were no match for the experts sent down by the departments to justify their budgets. In an effort to correct that situation we joined last year with Senator McClellan of Arkansas in sponsoring legislation to set up joint Committee on the Budget to provide the appropriations committee of both houses with expert research and counsel on each request for funds.

The Senate passed the bill overwhelmingly, but in the House the chairman of the Appropriations Committee and the Senior Minority Member opposed the proposal on the ground that it invaded the prerogative of the House to originate all appropriations. Actually, there was no basis in our bill for such a contention. As a matter of fact it was weighed in favor of the House: It gave the Chairmanship to a House member and made the membership of the committee 9 members of the House to 7 members of the Senate. To say that the House members could no more than hold their own under such a set-up was an admission of an inferiority complex that we for one were not ready to make. However, because of these jealousies and the personalities involved a move in the closing days of the last session to bring the bill up for consideration was lost by sixteen votes.

In its effort to forestall action of the bill to set up a joint committee on the budget Appropriations Committee succeeded in adding funds at the last minute providing $250,000 for the House committee and a like amount for the Senate committee. While we are glad to see badly needed staffs provided, it is obvious that the Congress is indulging in a duplication of effort by setting up two completely separate staffs of experts instead of a joint staff to service both committees. We have, therefore, reintroduced our bill in this Congress. The Senate has again approved the bill, this time unanimously, but in the House we find ourselves faced by the same opposition. Unfortunately, you can't streamline human nature.

some type of building paper. Steel bins should be tightly assembled.
Caulk all poorly fitting joints.

held at the University of Mississippi this summer.

New feature this year - the seventh in which these Institutes have been held - is the holding of two Institutes - one June 8-12 for managers and supervisors in city school systems operating two or more lunchrooms and for managers in large schools serving 350-400 or more daily. The second - June 29 - July 3 - will be primarily for managers and workers in school systems operating only one lunchroom. This institute is designed for the needs of smaller cities and for consolidated and rural schools.

The institutes will provide a practical curriculum with the cooperation of the State Department of Health, the State Department of Education, and the several departments of the University of Mississippi.

The extensive staff of instructors will include W. S. Griffin, State Supervisor of the School Lunch Program and members of his staff, Miss Alice Glenn Keaton, Supervisor of Nutrition Services, State Board of Health, together with other officials of the Nutrition Services Division, and several University of Mississippi instructors and visiting faculty members.

A particularly attractive aspect of the institute program this year will be provision for use of the University "vacation" facilities, and a complete descriptive bulletin will be sent upon request to the Department of Conferences and Institutes, the University of Mississippi.

GONE FOR GOOD

... THANKS TO NATURAL GAS

...AND AREN'T YOU GLAD!

Remember the oven-hot kitchen in the days of the old wood stove?

Remember the steamy, sticky kitchen on rainy wash days?

Modern automatic gas ranges and modern clothes dryers will help to make your kitchen cool and comfortable the year 'round - in summer as well as winter. Natural gas serves in so many ways, and so efficiently, we think you'll agree it's worth every cent you pay for it... and then some!

American Legion Reports

Reports by Frank Taconi, chairman of the Club Committee of the American Legion, indicate an increased use of the Legion's many free facilities. Operation of the Legion Club has been received with warmth by many local citizens and out of town visitors. Conveniences, popular prices and a friendly welcome are credited with this gain.

The Legion's free public pier is used continuously from early morning until well after sunset, while enjoying the cool breezes, many people boat, swim, fish or crab.

Numerous reports of fine catches of fish, caught at the end of the pier daily have been made; many baskets of crabs are brought from the pier each day. Swimmers find the Legion's long pier a great convenience in reaching deep water for swimming.

Clean-up efforts are expected to bring results in the next few days. It is the Legion's hope to eliminate all the grass and weeds from its beach property. A clean sand beach will extend to the water's edge. Cooperation of County officials is expected in this project.

The American Flag
1777 - 1953

On June 14, 1777 America unveiled a new flag to the world.
Its design was a circle of thirteen white stars on a blue canton in the upper corner next to the staff, and thirteen alternate red and white stripes. The present flag has 48 stars.

The above statement is a historical fact.

How many of us today stop to think of the tremendous price that was paid by our fathers to gain and keep that flag for us today? Heroes died for that Emblem before it was made. Thousands and thousands have died since then to maintain that flag for us and our children. Even today the list grows on and on.

Today "Old Glory" still waves on high. It is still the same Sym-

"there's a NEW CROP for Mississippi land"

Yes, Sir... this new crop—oil and natural gas—is bringing a new prosperity to Mississippi. Just one example is the money that's being paid to Mississippi landowners, even in counties where no oil or gas has yet been found.

GULF paid direct to landowners in 44 Mississippi counties $3 million in lease bonuses, rentals and royalties last year.

More than 7000 Mississippians receive income regularly from GULF. The company's lease and royalty payments, local and state taxes, material and supply purchases and salaries paid to Mississippi employees added more than $15 million to the state's general economy in 1952 alone.

GULF is proud to be a corporate citizen of Mississippi, a partner in the state's outstanding economic progress... proud that the company and its employees, in working toward their own goal—to find and produce oil—are making a substantial contribution toward the goal of all Mississippians... toward achieving a balanced, ever-expanding economy... a better life for all.

Before entering the Marines he attended Keble College.

HOME AGENT NOTES

KITCHEN SAFETY

Right now, in the middle of the canning season, is a good time to take a few minutes to remove accident hazards from the kitchen.

Here are some tips to make your canning a little safer. Use thick potholders, cotton gloves to protect your wrists, as well as hands; use jar lifters; have funnels to fill jars.

When making jelly or preserves, use a large kettle to prevent boilovers. Heat paraffin over boiling water, or over very low heat. Here is a tip: Heat the paraffin in a tin can to form a pouring spout, or use an old teapot.

Long handled forks and spoons promote safety as well as making the job easier. Make sure that lids are large enough to completely cover utensils; keep handles away from edge of stove; do not have any inflammable curtains near stove. Make sure that the perculator top is secure.

Paint. A sensational new wall enamel that is flat, odorless, self-sealing, scrubable and just about perfect for any wall or wood work job in the home is being presented by several paint companies.

On walls, this new enamel has a beautiful velvet flat finish, yet is so washable that it can be scrubbed over and over without marring the surface.

The new paint is completely odorless. One coat does the complete job. It is easy to apply with brush or roller and leaves no lap marks. It is fast drying.

In addition to all this, the new paint comes in about 30 home decorator colors.

CARE OF LAWNS

Proper mowing, watering, fertilization and weed control are essential to good lawn management.

Here are some tips: Cut grass often to allow the clippings to settle down on the lawn and return organic matter to the soil. During hot weather, the lawn should not be cut shorter than one and a fourth inches from the ground. It is best to keep the grass around two inches tall.

Water thoroughly. Light sprinklings are harmful. They encourage shallow root development. A weekly watering that wets the soil to a depth of five or six inches will encourage deep rooting and make grass more drought resistant.

To help keep your lawn green and healthy, try applying two or three pounds of 16-20-0 for each 1,000 square feet of lawn. Late June or early July is a good time to apply the fertilizer. Water the lawn thoroughly after fertilizing to prevent burning the grass.

Keeping weeds out of lawns is an essential. Hand weeding will be the answer to some. Others

FORESTRY NEWS

By JACK STEWART Area Forester

The forest fire situation in this section of the State has become extremely critical and Area Forester Jack Stewart asks full cooperation of every person in the county in preventing this unnecessary waste of timber, other crops and wildlife.

Numerous fires are breaking out from various causes, ranging in size from a few acres to 100 acres. Many of the fires are caused from cleaning up new ground.

Some of the fires have originated along the highways where cigarettes and matches have been carelessly discarded.

Mr. Stewart says, "For the sake of every person in Hancock County and the State as well, I urgently ask each individual to be careful with fire in the woods, around home, and in the fields. We must remember that everybody loses when the woods burn."

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ward and children of New Orleans, Mrs. W. J. Jones and son, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Luc, and family over the weekend.

will want to use 2, 4-D or other chemicals. Remember, 2, 4-D will kill flowers and ornamentals as well as broad-leaved weeds. Be sure to take the proper precautions when using it.

HOME GARDENING

Keep that home garden producing. Water it weekly if needed. Use a mulch for long season crops like tomatoes, peppers, eggplant and pole beans. Keep the rows and middles free from grass and weeds—these are heavy users of fertilizer and moisture.

Keep a close watch for "bugs." Ask your Home Demonstration Agent for a free copy of Extension Publication 167, "Kill Those Garden Bugs." It has colored pictures of many of the common garden pests, as well as up-to-date control recommendations.
